

We are opposed to SB 300. The state of Connecticut is in the process of developing a State Water Plan; a moratorium on all agreements such as SB 300 is prudent until we determine the best way to protect our most precious resource, clean water. Allowing Tilcon access to 100 acres of Class I and II land sets bad precedent by weakening essential protections for drinking water lands.

As Bloomfield residents dealing with the proposed Niagara bottling plant, we unfortunately are learning first hand how tenuous state and municipal stewardship of our precious resources is. We are tired of private companies extracting public resources for their profit.
