

Testimony in Opposition to H.B. No. 5044, An Act Making Adjustments To State Expenditures For The Fiscal Year Ending June 30, 2017

Honorable Committee Members:

My name is Angel Peterson Mattioli and I am the Vice Chair of the Board of Directors of Family Centered Services of Connecticut. I would like to express my opposition to the harmful cuts to nonprofits and, more importantly, to the children, youth and families impacted by the resulting loss of service. I am especially concerned about the DSS-funded Wyman Teen Outreach Program (TOP), an evidence-based teen pregnancy prevention model designed to teach students healthy behaviors and problem solving skills while giving them a sense of purpose so they can set life goals and contribute to the community. National studies have shown that TOP lowers the risk of school dropout by 60% and pregnancy by 53%.

Governor Malloy has proposed the total elimination of the DSS Statewide Teen Pregnancy Prevention Initiative (TPPI), notwithstanding that this program presents the kind of model our elected officials are looking for, as only evidence-based models proven to prevent teen pregnancy and the underlying risk factors are used. After a rigorous credentialing process, Connecticut has been named a Replication Partner with the Wyman Teen Outreach Program network and must be re-credentialed every two years. Facilitators are trained and then observed on a regular basis to ensure model fidelity. Data is collected from the students and is analyzed annually by an outside Investigator.

The TPPI was endorsed by the Legislative Program Review and Investigations Committee of the CT General Assembly in 2012. This Committee concluded that DSS had established a “solid methodology for TPPI funding that should continue to be applied” and that state contract requirements and outcome measures were met or exceeded consistently. It is difficult to understand the wisdom in eliminating a high-performing, evidence-based program that the General Assembly itself recognized as meeting and exceeding its projected outcome measures. An independent evaluator found that even though teens participating in the TPPI are at high risk for becoming teen parents, the national birth rate for teens in TPPI was dramatically lower (4.5 per 1,000) in comparison with the national birth rate for young women (12.3 per 1,000).

Dismantling the program’s infrastructure and services now after years of very thoughtfully considered expansion would be detrimental to all of Connecticut’s citizens, considering the high economic and social cost of unplanned pregnancy. The total cost of the entire statewide program, including independent evaluation, ongoing program monitoring, staff training and program operations, is only $1.72 million. This is after a budget cut and a rescission made this year. The average cost per teen was $2,254.

According to the National Campaign to Prevent Teen Pregnancy, the progress Connecticut has made in reducing teen childbearing saved taxpayers an estimated $230 million in 2010 alone. Consider, for example, that just 38% of teen girls who have a child before age 18 get a high school diploma, and that daughters of teen mothers are three times more likely to become teen mothers themselves.

Please maintain funding for the DSS teen pregnancy prevention initiative and preserve the uninterrupted delivery of evidence-based services to our most vulnerable youth.
