

We live in a fairly congested part of the country. We have just so much unused land left and they're not making any new land, so please do what you can to preserve what we have.

John Stillwagon