

Arnold Cohen
West Hartford, Connecticut 06117

This is double taxation. The money contributed to Social Security was part of wages that were already taxed. There are no capital gains short or long term from S.S. nor any dividends or interest paid on this contribution therefore why tax it twice?