Social Security means survival for people like us, a couple who have worked many decades to be able to live in our beloved home without burdening society. We live within our means but, after adjusting for less income in 2016 as Medicare costs increased, we're reminded of the high burden our state extracts as we prepare to pay our taxes. We want to remind legislators that, for people like us, but every penny counts.

Sincerely,
Mia and William Rossiter
