

Diane Skelly
skellydiane@aol.com
Farmington, Connecticut 06032

Through work, I see and hear about numerous seniors trying hard to make ends meet with small pensions and social security benefits. They are shocked when some of their social security benefits are taxed at the Federal and State levels and more and more of their benefits are taxed every year. It's time that we stop draining the little guy and the seniors, and let them live their retirement in piece. They are being penalized for working hard and putting money aside in their pensions and some investments to take care of themselves in their golden years and then be forced to pay tax on taxes withheld from their pay in the first place!!