Only 16 states tax Social Security and pensions. Our surrounding states of Massachusetts and New York do not tax them, which gives retirees living there an incentive to remain in their homes instead of fleeing to the south. I am a retiree and am considering a move myself, but would be much more likely to stay here in my home if I was not being taxed on my pensions and Social Security. Eliminating this tax would be a win win for Connecticut. Thank you for submitting this bill.
