To whom it may concern:

I support HB 5300 which will remove the trigger clause from Connecticut's current GMO labeling law. I want to know how the food I choose to feed my family is produced. My daughter has allergies and I feel strongly that we deserve to be informed about ingredients to choose wisely when it comes to our children's nutrition.

Most European countries and many others (including China for crying out loud) ban GMO crop cultivation. While it's too late to ban GMO crops in the United States, it is not too late to require labeling. We deserve the right to know.

Companies change their labels all the time. How many times do we see "new and improved," "reformulated," etc. Please require them to include GMO information on the labels and be honest and transparent with consumers.

Thank you,
