

As one who has been admonished regularly for many years for not moving out of Connecticut to save large sums especially on estate and gift taxes, I enthusiastically join the chorus of those beseeching you to allow your wealthiest citizens to live out their lives in the state they love rather than move to defang Connecticut's onerous inheritance taxes.

William L. Richter