

HB5434 – SUPPORT

I realize that the US is not a direct democracy. I realize that we work through a series of representatives of our voice. However, in the case of the singular office of President of the United States, direct voice is essential.

Never has our country been so divided and never has the unfairness of the current Electoral College been clearer. It is always argued that it is there to represent less populous regions, so they are not "ruled" by the more populous areas. But right now, those LESS POPULOUS REGIONS are imposing their choices on the rest of us with increasing frequency. It must be stopped.

Thank you,
Lydia Fazio Theys
Woodbridge, CT