

Note that the plan to impose tolls on CT highways would actually be counterproductive. It's not a good idea. There are many unintended consequences. CT drivers will be hurt by tolls and most of those drivers are middle class and low-income workers. CT workers will lose a lot of time and this negative will be greater than the value of money received. It will be just one more item in the list of CT being unfriendly to business. There's actually a long list of negatives for CT citizens and CT businesses.

Nick Percival