Dear Honorable Members of Education Committee,

I am eleven years old and I’m in sixth grade. I do not support the disaggregation of Asians from among the community. Japanese people are almost like Chinese people because some Chinese explorer found Japan and became its emperor. Does that make Japanese Americans different from Chinese Americans? We look different, but does it really make a difference? I don’t want another 1954-1968-like-segregation between black and white except it’s Asians being separated from other Asians. Plus, you could be separating friends who have known each other for 9 years like in my case, because my friend’s parents are from Vietnam.

From,
Grace Zhang
