

The electoral college need to go, so I support H.B. 5421. The main reason is that all votes would count. But one big reason the lessons of history, mainly the 5 times that the which the winner of the electoral college lost the popular vote. All 5 times the electoral college winner was the one that you would not want. With the 2016 you have Hitler 2.0, and in 2000 you have the one who always wanted to finish the war his father started in 1991 and produced the cause of the 2008 financial crisis. But those are just that ones in living memory. The times before that you have elections that are more telling. The 1888 election produced the cause of Panic of 1893. But the time before that is the most telling. The Compromise of 1877 was to settle the intensely disputed 1876 U.S. presidential election. They put Rutherford B. Hayes in office on the condition that northern troops pull out of the last three former Confederate States. But with that came the Jim Crow laws, the second biggest sin in in American history, the first obviously being slavery itself.
