

Timothy Yankee

speaking on Legalization.

Democracy is the will of the majority. We hire legislatures to be our voice. Over 2/3 of constituent's support legalization, that's not a small number. These walls are thick, but not thick enough that our legislatures cannot hear us.

Why is it that the voice of 70 percent of constituents is continuing to be ignored? Whether your pro or against legalization you should feel the same way. Democracy's is designed to support the majority while utilizing the fear of the opposition to make an educated decision when approving legislation. Yet the bulk of your constituents are banging on your doors screaming we are here. Who is turning their head and denying to even allow the state a vote.

"We the people is the preamble of the US constitution." Maybe we should start acting like "We the people" still have a say in our free government.

This is the constitution State after all.

We can easily amend the program we currently have to make sure no one has privilege over their peers. It can be up and running by the time the producers can keep up with demand, and dispensaries can add a door for unregistered individuals. Our licenses can be scanned. We've all seen Snowden and know what the government is capable of. It shouldn't take more than a couple days to write the program. Lets listen to our constituents.

Thank you and God bless America
