

It is time for Ct to join the growing number of states which allow dying people to end their suffering. Anyone who is afraid of this concept should do some research. The film "How to Die in Oregon" is a good place to start. However, let us not drag our feet while other states show how much more compassionate and progressive they are. Joan Smith