

Bills 457 and 738

The above bills are an attempt to force the smaller towns and cities to contribute to educational costs of the larger cities. Those of us living in smaller towns like the way our schools are operated and funded. Once a Regional School System is established the small towns will lose their right to control the funding and operation of our children's education. The passage of these bills will be one more reason for people to leave Connecticut. More reasons to leave Connecticut are certainly not needed, there are already enough.
