

Good morning,

I find the conversation of the two bills encouraging that you are willing to speak and have conversations, however, the government should not be forcing towns to consolidate into school regions or make it mandatory that they must share resources. This to me is extremely troubling. It also points out the fact that you are not aware of all the services and activities that are shared between towns currently.

This is just another attempt, in my mind, as well as many others, to wipe out the individuality of the towns that make them unique and try to force a round peg into a square hole. In addition, not addressing the real issues of the state, too much spending and not enough fiscal responsibility! I would be fired from my job if I ran my budget the way they are currently run in this state, thus, the reason why more and more people are leaving the state.

Regards,
