

We do not support forced regionalization of local school districts. Our middle & high school district is already regionalized (4 towns attend the same school), while elementary schools are local within each member town.

Forced regionalization will lower property values for towns with good education systems, where regionalization may lower the quality of education. If property values and education quality go down in good districts, more people will flee the state for better education and better property appreciation elsewhere.

Sven Roepke

New Hartford, CT