

Bill 457 and Bill 738

Start working with the money you have, not the money you anticipate, that is where the state budgets are falling. stop trying to inforce former Gov Malloy's failed plans. it's up to the towns how to save money not the state. State of Connecticut needs to start with there own budget(s) and have them approved before the towns budget referendums,that way the towns aren't scrambling after the fact, by having to cuts because the state money is being cut. Cutting wasteful spending on non union (management and upper management) positions.
