

Senate Bill 454/738, and the Governor's budget bill which also speaks to regionalization (SB 874 Schools the the most important fabric of every individual community. The great schools are the only reason people come to and stay in Connecticut especially with property taxes is high and especially now with the new tax laws which prohibit deductions. Mess with the schools, and more people will leave. This will destroy the tax base and cause more business to close and leave the state. It's a consistent trend that will only get worse if you mess with the one thing that is good about the state Stay away from messing with our schools. Keep tax paying citizens in Connecticut and more important feel happy about living here.
