

It's very disheartening to see that yet again the state of CT is trying to corral all the non vaxers into one big box and push herd immunity. Taking away religious exemptions is a complete smack in the face to people who use these forms due to a legitimate religious belief.

There are many parents who use this form because it is literally their only option. Getting your doctor to sign a med exempt form doesn't happen easily or often, and doesn't even apply in many situations, especially when it just comes to preference of just choosing no.

So currently if you do not want a vaccine and still want to give your children an education, etc. we are required to submit some type of documentation proving why, so if we can't say medical, the only choice we have is religious exemption. PLEASE GIVE US THE PHILOSOPHICAL EXEMPTION CHOICE. Parents just want a say in what and when we inject our children and do not want to feel forced to adhere to the governments schedule if we don't agree with it. A parent should be able to say "no i do not consent to a vaccine, flu shot, etc" without ANY questions asked, we could fill out the proper form to follow guidelines, and it could all be good. But it seems the state doesn't want this to be logical, it seems its only about pushing vaccines.

It is an insult to parents in CT to take away their choice when it comes to medical care for their child. If you get to choose what foods, medications, etc. that you get to put into your body, WHY in the world would it make sense to not get to choose when it comes to injecting chemicals, live virusus, neurotoxins, etc.

Taking away the right to say either "yes i give consent" or "no i do not" is just simply not okay. The choice to vaccine or not, get the flu shot or not, take a slowed schedule for vaccines, etc. should be OUR CHOICE, not the governments. Taking this away you will destroy so much more than meets the eye. Home school groups, children who already attend & love daycares and public schools will be asked to leave, and so much more forced vaccine rubbish.

As a teacher, I am not anticipating saying goodbye to many of my students until they choose to meet your standard if the religious exemption is taken away. PLEASE MAKE RELIGIOUS EXEMPTIONS ACTUALLY PROVEN FOR RELIGION. GIVE PHILOSOPHICAL EXEMPTIONS TO EVERYONE ELSE, AND MEDICALLY EXEMPTIONS STAY THE SAME.
