

An important reason for knowledge of ones birth family is current family medical history.

I ask each legislator the following question:

"Would you voluntarily ask all your medical providers to delete all family medical history subsequent to your birth?"

I am a member of the General Society of Mayflower Descendants through my paternal grandmother. Membership is by bloodline descent!

From a DNA submission I connected with a second cousin once removed. As my paternal grandfather was also adopted, I was able to learn of family back to the early 1700s. And my second cousin once removed learned of another branch of her family. Her grandmother had a sister who she presumed had no children. Our DNA and documentation proved that not to be the case.

Sincerely,

Stephen Kanzee
