

Dear members of the Public Health Committee,

In the quest for convenience, pharmacies in the United States sell drugs on every street corner and in every supermarket. Americans consume more drugs than any other population in the world. Indoctrination in pill popping begins from birth. As children grow older, TV, Radio and online advertising cements this message.

Statistics show that medical error constitutes the third leading cause of death killing 250,000 people yearly.

The United States Supreme Court has determined that vaccines are unavoidably unsafe. Allowing a vaccination by a pharmacy with little or no knowledge of medical history compounds this hazard. Children cannot provide informed consent and Bill 94 mentions nothing about parental approval. Bill 94 endangers children and infringes upon parental, medical, and religious freedoms.

I urge its rejection.

Respectfully,

Pazit Edelman
