

These bills are wrong in so many aspects... if a child cannot vote, and a child's prefrontal cortex which is about decision making, (action and consequences) is not completely developed by 25, how dare you or anyone besides the parents/guardians to allow the responsibility of the health of that child to lay on a predatory vaccine for the sake of money. The science behind HPV is not there, there are serious consequences to HPV including death, and VAERS reports some deaths following HPV, and I remember as a college student students being out weeks at a time while the trials were going on... one incidence was a girl around 20(!) who received the vaccine and part of the trial, had to drop out of school because she started having severe concentration issues and recall issues.

Now imagine the parent having. I idea that the child received this vaccine, becomes severely sick, and not knowing why? Who will be held responsible? The pharmacy? The parents? MERCK? I doubt that was even thought of, or worse, put a disclaimer saying this is not our responsibility in small print that a child will not read, because they are being preyed upon.

How dare anyone even present these bills, all for a vaccine that has effective treatments that are safe...

Not to mention the severe adjuvants in the vaccine.

These bills should be denied. Things like this should be reported upon in news and not sneak by the public eye.

I'm so very upset, distraught and overwhelmed with this possibility, of it being passed, that my children could be put in danger along with thousands of others...

Sincerely,
Cora Stover
Orange, CT