The RESC Alliance represents Connecticut’s six Regional Educational Service Centers (RESCs). RESCs are not-for-profit, fee-for-service public education agencies that have supported the educational needs of our member school districts for decades. Established by C. G. S. 10-66 more than 50 years ago for “the purpose of cooperative action to furnish programs and services,” we have provided consistently cost-effective, cooperative solutions that have addressed the education needs of our member districts and their communities. Each RESC operates independently, governed by Boards that consist of locally elected Boards of Education members who represent the schools in our respective regions. The RESC Alliance comprises six agencies: ACES, C.E.S., CREC, EASTCONN, EdAdvance, and LEARN. Together, members of the RESC Alliance “act as one” across a statewide network that efficiently procures resources and delivers high-quality education services for all member districts and communities.

The RESC Alliance supports voluntary regional solutions. We continue to provide high-quality, cost-effective educational and operational solutions. Each of our regions uses a broad array of shared services, both between and among our districts, as well as within each of our service centers. All RESCs are dedicated to supporting local school districts to improve teaching and learning. We regularly facilitate partnerships with many different stakeholders and are dedicated to providing high-quality and affordable solutions that address regional education needs. All RESCs provide many common services, while each also offers professional education specialties that are driven by regional needs and interests. Our services are responsive to local needs. We strive to create innovative, inter-district opportunities. Our services range across a broad spectrum that includes special education and related services; professional development for educators; school improvement; curriculum development and coaching; early childhood programs and services; magnet schools; back-office work, and much more.

Together, the RESC Alliance is able to provide an effective delivery system for statewide educational needs. For example, we serve as a statewide delivery service for the Connecticut State Department of Education in supporting the statewide implementation of education initiatives, such as teacher evaluation, Common Core coaching services, special education, and new teacher development through TEAM. Recent work to establish employee health insurance collaboratives or stop-loss insurance programs in several of our RESC regions are examples of how we promote voluntary cooperation... across our membership. As we expand programs like these to meet the needs of our region’s schools and communities, RESCs must often invest substantial resources and staff time to develop effective programs, as we have done to grow our regional special education services.

Because we are governed by locally elected Boards of Education members, RESCs are uniquely positioned to collect and respond to important regional needs, challenges, trends, and ideas, and to respond with creative, collaborative, innovative and cost-effective solutions. As a result, RESC staff regularly meet with CSDE staff to share regional perspectives as we work together on statewide education issues. In these challenging economic times, we urge you to consider the RESCs’ long and successful history in Connecticut as a delivery mechanism for regional and statewide education solutions. The attached one-page summaries represent each of the RESC Alliance’s six, non-profit agencies, reflecting our unique emphases, region by region. As the RESC Alliance, we will continue to support our member schools and communities as we advocate for their needs, and work together to find regional solutions.
What are Regional Educational Service Centers (RESCs)?

RESCs are nonprofit, fee-for-service, public education agencies. Their mission is to provide quality, cost-effective education resources, programs, and services to the state’s public schools. Since their formation, RESCs have saved public schools millions of dollars.

RESCs are:
- Created by Connecticut General Statute 10-66a on August 1, 1972
- Governed by local boards of education
- Dedicated to helping schools improve teaching, learning and student achievement
- Committed to providing high-quality, affordable education options for schools
- Focused on building regional partnerships that support public schools
- Operated independently in state-designated regions
- Partners with the Connecticut State Department of Education (CSDE) for Teaching and Learning

What is the RESC Alliance?

In the 1990s, Connecticut’s six RESCs formed the RESC Alliance to create greater access to resources and savings for all Connecticut public schools. Today, the RESCs collaborate to deliver an ever-growing variety of education resources and services that schools and communities couldn’t otherwise afford. The RESC Alliance also advocates at the state legislature for laws that address and respond to the education needs of all Connecticut residents.

- 30% State Grants & Contracts
- 16% Federal Grants & Contracts

About Our Funding

- EdAdvance and the five other RESCs in Connecticut do not receive any direct operational funding from the state.

- The majority (53%) of EdAdvance’s funding originates from local fee-for-service contracts with schools for such services as: student transportation, special education services, personnel services, and professional learning services.

- Thirty percent (30%) of our funding is from state grants and contracts targeted to provide services for specific populations such as infants and young children with Autism and other special needs, children and adults with disabilities, adults lacking a high school diploma, and other high need groups.

- The remaining 17% of our funding is from competitive federal grants and contracts, supporting such programs as Head Start/Early Head Start and Skills21’s innovative digital learning programs.

- As the second largest non-profit employer in Litchfield County, EdAdvance also contributes significantly to the local economy.

- Our 640+ employees serve over 46,000 students residing in 32 communities in Litchfield and Northern Fairfield counties (see service area map on front page).

- Over the past three years, the agency has made considerable capital and personnel investments to support the implementation and expansion of services in response to school and community needs, including, but not limited to K-12 special education services.

What Our Funding Supports

- 79% School-Based Programs & Services
- 10% Community-Based Programs & Services
- 11% Agency Administration
