

To Whom It May Concern,

I am an adult adoptee and have for years been seeking for information regarding my birth parents. I have always known I was adopted and do not keep some fantasy about a second family, in fact I never was concerned about my birth parents until I became a mother, especially a mother of a child with medical problems. There are so many questions that I can not answer from neurologists, pediatricians, and other specialists.

I feel like all citizens should have a right to know about their health history, mortality, etc. I am currently searching for more information using online websites like Ancestry and 23andMe, which have yielded results for cousins, etc. When the original laws were passed no-one could have foreseen the advancement in the intersection of technology and biology.

Since I, and other citizens, are already granted the rights to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness under constitutional law, and loose constructivism permits the constitution of our whole country to have shifting interpretations over time as cultural context changes, so should our states.

--

Yours in health,

Emily Canibano, M.ed

MACTE AMI Primary Guide (MNW)

Master Trainer (ORTP)

ERYT/Children'sYT/PYT (Yoga Alliance)

GFI/cPT/Children's Fitness Expert (ACE)

"...we, when we speak of education are proclaiming a revolution..This is education, understood as a help to life; an education from birth, which feeds a peaceful revolution and unites all in a common aim..." - Maria Montessori, The Absorbent Mind facebook.com/olivebranchschool <<http://facebook.com/olivebranchschool>>

olivebranchschool.com

<<http://olivebranchschool.com>>