I am Lynn Franklin, a reunited birth mother. My son found me 27 years. Until this year in NY he could not have his original Birth certificate. Now, he can. And it's time for adopted people in Connecticut to have equal rights.

I urge you to vote in favor of Senate Bill 113. Every adult individual in the country should have this vital document that establishes their true identity. I was never promised any confidentiality, and the relinquishment papers do not offer it. The days of secrecy and closed records should be over. Sealed original birth certificates deny basic human and civil rights to adult adopted individuals. And further even if we were promised confidentiality at the time, it is virtually moot in today's world of openness and DNA kits.

Thank you for considering and I hope giving your support to Senate Bill 113.
