Explanation

The bill increases the penalty for obstructing the legislative process in certain circumstances and includes the Capitol Police in the definition of a peace officer for certain offenses resulting in a potential cost for incarceration or probation and a potential revenue gain from fines to the extent violations occur. On average, the marginal cost to the state for incarcerating an offender for the year is $2,200¹ while the average marginal cost for supervision in the community is less than $700² each year.

¹ Inmate marginal cost is based on increased consumables (e.g. food, clothing, water, sewage, living supplies, etc.) This does not include a change in staffing costs or utility expenses because these would only be realized if a unit or facility opened.

² Probation marginal cost is based on services provided by private providers and only includes costs that increase with each additional participant. This does not include a cost for additional supervision by a probation officer unless a new offense is anticipated to result in enough additional offenders to require additional probation officers.

The Out Years

The annualized ongoing fiscal impact identified above would continue into the future subject to the number of violations.
