

There SHOULD BE a Government option.

Health insurance SHOULD NOT BE tied to whether or not your employer wants to offer it.

I would be fine with a 2 tiered system, where there is basic coverage for all and employers could offer a more comprehensive plan.

Reimporting drugs is not the answer--the tax payers subsidize the creation of new drugs; the pharmaceutical companies should be required to sell these drugs at a reasonable price. PLUS older drugs that have been on the market for years have more than recouped their initial investments. There is no reason for massive price hikes there either. Government should use their power to regulate the industry.
