

Regarding government run health care.

I have been forced out of the market to shop for a plan that I can afford. As a small business owner, I have no other choice but to use the government website to get health insurance or go without.

Consistently the website and calls to the call center push to enroll in Husky. Even if I qualify to purchase a plan with subsidies. The system itself is (website, call center) can be bogged down and take hours to get through. Information is lost on their end, causing cancellation of policies (this happened last year) then being pushed to enroll in Husky. My preference is to shop for a plan that I can afford and not have government run agencies propel me towards their program. My preference is to have a specific person that I can work with and know my needs.

Job losses from this market will be substantial. Then this group of people will be shopping for their insurance on a government run agency. How will the employers be able to pay for employees' insurance?
