

Connecticut does not need government run healthcare. Government sucks at everything it gets involved in. Government has a very limited duty and none of it includes running healthcare. None of you know the first thing about healthcare. You can't even balance a budget or manage what you already have control of. Leave healthcare to the professionals who actually know what they are doing.

Christopher Philbrook
Torrington, CT