

National Single Payer Healthcare is far and away the most desirable healthcare policy. I'm glad CT is taking appropriate steps toward reforming a deeply broken institution. Healthcare, 'run as a business' is an affront to anyone with a understanding of elementary economics or a decent sense of foresight.

"Protecting insurance jobs" as was sent in Dan Champagnes grossly ignorant email is a slap in the face to low and middle class Americans who get gouged by insurance companies on plan rates, premiums, and deductibles every year. Nearly everyone I know has an insurance related horror story about "missed" coverage in their plans, bankrupting fees, and unaccountable corporations who help the barest minimum amount. Shame on him.

Regards,

Thomad

Sent from Yahoo Mail for iPhone