

Testimony to the Connecticut General Assembly's Judiciary Committee

In support of Senate Bill No. 1019

3/10/2021

Co-Chairs Sen. Winfield & Rep. Stafstrom; Ranking Members Sen. Kissel & Rep. Fishbein; and esteemed Members of the Judiciary Committee, I am writing in support of S.B. No. 1019 AN ACT CONCERNING THE BOARD OF PARDONS AND PAROLES, ERASURE OF CRIMINAL RECORDS FOR CERTAIN MISDEMEANOR AND FELONY OFFENSES, PROHIBITING DISCRIMINATION BASED ON ERASED CRIMINAL HISTORY RECORD INFORMATION AND CONCERNING THE RECOMMENDATIONS OF THE CONNECTICUT SENTENCING COMMISSION WITH RESPECT TO MISDEMEANOR SENTENCES.

My name is Elizabeth Keenan. I am a resident of New Haven, CT and a social work educator. I support S.B. 1019 for the automatic erasure of criminal records. Mass incarceration has had real, ongoing consequences in Connecticut, disproportionately hurting Black and brown communities in our state, and burdening hundreds of thousands of Connecticut residents with a criminal record. Records present barriers to employment, housing, occupational licensing, and higher education. 9 in 10 employers, 4 in 5 landlords, and 3 in 4 colleges use background checks. Clean Slate will automatically expunge the records of people who have served their time, returned to our communities, and remained crime-free. A criminal record should not be a lifetime sentence.

I have seen the negative consequences records have on many of our students who have served their time and want to “pay it forward” by becoming a social worker. While a criminal record does not preclude students from achieving a BSW or MSW degree, many workplaces have requirements that block employment. Social work students go through a rigorous program of courses and internships. They are consistently evaluated on their knowledge, skills and adherence to social work values. A criminal record should not be a barrier to the good work they could do with others.

I realize that not everyone goes into social work. This is, however, one example of the ways that criminal records construct unnecessary and punitive barriers for people who have served their time. As we know, Clean Slate makes communities safer. When people have access to jobs, housing, occupational licensing, and higher education, they are more likely to earn higher wages, and less likely to recidivate. A study from the University of Michigan Law School found that recidivism rates for people who have had their records expunged are so low that they actually “pose a lower crime risk than the general population as a whole.”

With S.B. 1019, Connecticut can strengthen our economy, improve public safety, and advance racial justice. I encourage all members of the Judiciary Committee, on both sides of the aisle, to support this important measure. Thank you.
