My son was involved in a crime and he was 17 at the time , but he got arrested right after or close to his 18th he is now 37yrs old . At that time he was very young. He's been in jail for 19yrs. All together it was two people who went to jail the others 3 got a Plead deal from the prosecutors and they were set free. My son first trial was a hung jury and that retried it. And for the second trial very biased they don't let a lot of evidence go through or proof of what PCP could do to yoAnd for the second trial if it very biased they don't let a lot of evidence go through or proof of what PCP could do to you. I agree with this bill at the age of 17-25 a brain is not fully developed. They all should get a second chance. My son as accomplish a lot of things in prison as of today's date and I know that he would do great. Thank you Marquita.
