

The homeowners who have been overlooked in the crumbling foundations discussion are those who must move away but cannot sell their homes. Realtors and lenders advise buyers to steer clear of these homes. Leaving homeowners stuck with a home they are neither living in nor can they sell.

Steve Park