impact resulting in the following impact.

The bill requires certain municipalities and other youth athletic activity operators and youth camps to conduct comprehensive background checks on certain prospective employees resulting in a potential revenue gain to the state and a potential cost to municipalities.

The Department of Emergency Services and Public Protection (DESPP) conducts state background checks for $75 per person and to the extent additional background checks are requested there is a potential revenue gain to the state. State background checks require fingerprinting, which DESPP conducts for $15 per person resulting in a potential revenue gain to the Applicant Fingerprint Card Submission Account².

The amendment also results in a potential revenue gain to the state related to a civil penalty of not more than $100 per day for each day, up to $4,500, a licensee has knowledge of an employee's conviction and does not report it to the Office of Early Childhood. The extent of the revenue gain depends on the civil penalty imposed and the number of days the licensee fails to meet the notification requirements established by the amendment.

There is a cost to municipalities that will vary based on 1) the number of background checks they conduct, and 2) the vendor they use to conduct them. A town that conducts these background checks via DESPP would incur costs of $75 per person for the state criminal background check and $15 per person for fingerprinting. A town that conducts background checks via a third-party vendor could incur costs of $18 to $20 per person for both.

A municipality could at least partially offset this cost if it chose to increase any fees it charges for participation in youth athletic activities.

The Department of Children and Families (DCF) is in the process of implementing an automated Child Abuse and Neglect Registry system, which will be in place before the bill becomes effective, therefore, no fiscal impact to the agency is anticipated from the bill. DCF does not charge a fee for a check of the Registry.
