Explanation

The bill extends the statute of limitations for crimes against the elderly and, to the extent that additional violators are prosecuted, results in a potential cost and potential revenue gain. On average, the marginal cost to the state for incarcerating an offender for the year is $2,500¹ while the average marginal cost for supervision in the community is less than $800² each year.

The Out Years

¹ Inmate marginal cost is based on increased consumables (e.g. food, clothing, water, sewage, living supplies, etc.) This does not include a change in staffing costs or utility expenses because these would only be realized if a unit or facility opened.

² Probation marginal cost is based on services provided by private providers and only includes costs that increase with each additional participant. This does not include a cost for additional supervision by a probation officer unless a new offense is anticipated to result in enough additional offenders to require additional probation officers.

The annualized ongoing fiscal impact identified above would continue into the future subject to the number of violators.
