Anna Manusky, President, Connecticut Republican Assembly

"It is a shame, but Connecticut's once touted public education system is in a public health crisis. To what degree children no longer rise to the levels of academics in the public system is unknown due to the lack of valid academic developmental measures of academics."

Jessica Wysocki

"Common Core has to be removed. It has shown it is developmentally appropriate. This is additionally disturbing with a democrat majority legislature that recognizes the developmental status of young adults that commit crimes and adjusts their legal punishment because of it."
