SNAP Enrollment by Town

By: Mary Fitzpatrick, Principal Analyst
February 16, 2022 | 2022-R-0045

Issue

This report describes enrollment by town for Connecticut’s Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP, i.e., food stamp program). It updates, in part, OLR Report 2016-R-0107.

SNAP Enrollment by Town

Table 1 shows (1) the number of SNAP recipients in each town as of January 2022 according to the Department of Social Services (DSS) and (2) each town’s population as of July 1, 2020 (based estimates from the Department of Public Health (DPH)). It also shows the estimated percentage of each town’s population receiving SNAP benefits, but please note that these percentages were calculated using data from different points in time (i.e., January 2022 for SNAP recipients and July 2020 for population) and thus do not reflect any subsequent population changes that may have occurred. Table 1 is arranged by the estimated percentage receiving SNAP benefits, from greatest to least. Connecticut’s population as of July 1, 2020, was 3,603,448, and 369,218 people received SNAP benefits in January 2022.

*DPH derived these estimates by adjusting the population totals from the 2020 census, which were measured as of April 1, 2020, to account for estimated changes that occurred between April 1 and July 1, 2020
These percentages were calculated by dividing the January 2022 SNAP data by the July 2020 population data, which are the most recently available data in these categories
