Explanation

The bill has no fiscal impact by requiring the Chief Workforce Officer and the Commissioner of Transportation to conduct a study on transportation barriers faced by participants of workforce development programs. The Office of Workforce Strategy (OWS) is currently undertaking a request for proposal (RFP) that is anticipated to meet the requirements of the study in the underlying bill.

The current RFP entitled “Transportation Pilot Research and Feasibility Study” seeks to analyze the state’s transportation capacities and gaps as well as feasible transportation solutions. OWS has budgeted $200,000 for this study.
