SB 1227

AN ACT INCREASING VARIOUS MONETARY THRESHOLDS UNDER THE STATE CODES OF ETHICS.

SUMMARY

The state ethics codes generally prohibit public officials, candidates, and state employees from soliciting or accepting (and lobbyists from giving) various gifts if they are worth more than a certain amount. The codes also impose various prohibitions, requirements, and other conditions on certain items and actions if are worth more than a certain amount.

This bill increases these financial thresholds in the ethics codes as shown in the table below. More specifically, it increases the thresholds that determine whether (1) something is a gift subject to various prohibitions under the codes and (2) other various prohibitions, requirements, and conditions apply to an item or action (e.g., the minimum value of an expenditure that must be reported on client lobbyist registrant financial reports).

§§ 1 & 5 — GIFTS

The bill increases the value thresholds that determine whether something is a “gift” subject to various prohibitions under the Code of Ethics for Public Officials (§ 1) or the Code of Ethics for Lobbyists (§ 5).

For example, the code for public officials generally prohibits public officials and state employees from (1) accepting a gift based on any understanding that their vote, official action, or judgment would be influenced by it (CGS § 1-84(g)); (2) knowingly accepting a gift from a known registered lobbyist (CGS § 1-84(j)); or (3) knowingly accepting a gift from someone who the official or employee knows is seeking to do business with their department or agency (CGS § 1-84(m)). The code for lobbyists similarly prohibits registered lobbyists from knowingly giving a gift to a state employee or public official (CGS § 1-97(a)).

The table below shows a brief description of the covered gift and its value threshold under current law and the bill for determining whether it is exempted under the codes.

Table: Exempted Gift Thresholds Under Current Law and the Bill

§§ 2-11 — OTHER PROHIBITIONS, REQUIREMENTS, AND CONDITIONS

The bill also increases the financial thresholds that trigger various prohibitions, requirements, or other additional conditions. These include, for example, the value of a contract that a public official cannot enter into without an open and public process, or expenditure amounts that trigger certain reporting requirements. The table below shows the bill's threshold increases and a brief description of the provision to which it applies.

Table: Thresholds for Other Prohibitions, Requirements, and Conditions

Bill Section	Threshold Increase Under the Bill	Provision
2	From at least $100 to at least $250	The value of most contracts that public officials and state employees (and members of their immediate families and associated businesses) cannot enter unless awarded through an open and public process
3	From greater than $10 to greater than $20	The value of anything given to a public official or state employee that must be reported if it was given by a person (1) doing business, or seeking to, with the official's or employee's agency or (2) engaged in activities regulated by the agency
4	From at least $50 to at least $100	The annual cost of an "expenditure" under the code for lobbyists if it is (1) paid communications on pending administrative or legislative action or (2) solicitations of another person to communicate with public officials or state employees to influence a legislative or administrative act (by law, expenditures are subject to various reporting requirements (e.g., CGS § 1-96))
6	From less than $50 to less than $100	The amount that someone may spend to benefit a public official in the legislative or executive branch without being considered a lobbyist (as long as they are not paid or reimbursed specifically for lobbying and spend five hours or less lobbying)
7	From up to $100 to up to $250	The monthly amount that a client lobbyist registrant that attempts to influence legislative action may spend or agree to spend for lobbying without having to file an interim monthly report on its lobbying

		activities during regular legislative session
8	From at least $10 to at least $20	The value of each expenditure per person to benefit a legislative or executive branch public official that must be reported on client lobbyist registrant financial reports
8	From less than $30 to less than $60	The amount of expenditures per person that do not have to be reported if they (1) benefit General Assembly members at an event open to all legislators or members of a particular region or (2) are personally and directly received by a public official or state employee at a charitable or civic event where they participate in their official capacity
9	From at least $10 to at least $20	The amount of each expenditure to benefit a public official that a former registrant must report if it occurs within six months after the end of their registration
10	From at least $10 to at least $20	The value of each expenditure to benefit a public official for which registrants must keep records for three years
10	From at least $50 to at least $100	The value of all other expenditures for which registrants must keep records for three years
11	From at least $10 to at least $20	The amount a registrant paid or reimbursed to a public official or state employee that triggers a requirement to file a statement with the Office of State Ethics
