

Simon B. Amaya Price

Connecticut SB 295 Testimony 3/2/26

Good afternoon committee, thank you for the opportunity to speak in opposition of SB 295.

My name is Simon Amaya Price, and I used to be trans. I have good reason to oppose this bill, but first I would like to give you a compliment: never have I seen a state-level bill, given a hearing, which so quickly violates the constitution. Section 1(b) is a clear violation of Article 4, section 3 of the constitution, and arguably the 11th amendment as well. I am not a constitutional lawyer, but you don't need to be a vet to know what a dog is.

This bill protects interstate child abusers from accountability, and in some cases would provide them a chance to sue the individuals who rightfully assisted in their prosecution.

When I was 14, I was groomed by the internet, by my teachers, and by medical professionals into wanting to take the same drugs which were used to quote on quote “cure” Alan Turing's homosexuality. They ignored my history of being bullied and sexually abused, instead encouraging me to go behind my parents' backs to obtain cross-sex hormones which were never approved by the FDA for use in treating pediatric gender dysphoria. Every systematic review conducted on the topic has found that cross-sex hormones and puberty blockers cause irreversible harm, and have at best uncertain benefits in pediatric populations suffering from gender dysphoria.

A disproportionate number of the children who are given these drugs and cut up by surgeons under the guise of gender-affirming care are same sex attracted or autistic. When you transition a young gay man, he becomes a “straight woman.” Why does Connecticut want to protect this same sort of conversion therapy as has been in vogue in fascist theocracy of Iran?

Now, let's talk about nazis. Trans activists often talk about how the Institute for Sexual Science was attacked and their researchers killed at the beginning of the Third Reich. What they don't talk about is how the ones who weren't gay or jewish ended up working for the Nazis. They performed sex change and sex nullification procedures on countless children and adults.

Hitler personally awarded Dr Erwin Gohrbandt, the father of the vaginoplasty with the Knight's Cross Silver. Why does the state of Connecticut want to protect doctors who perform the same procedures done on children in Nazi concentration camps?

Please vote against this bill to protect vulnerable youth not just in Connecticut, but across the country from mutilation, sterilization, and conversion therapy.

Thank you very much happy to answer any and all questions.
