

I thought since you responded about the article that describes Connecticut's highly successful effort of creating wire monkey mothers for children, you might find this short read interesting- and investigate where that funding goes.

<http://m.huffpost.com/us/entry/1511613>