

To Whom It May Concern:

I am writing to express my support of stricter gun control legislation. As a mother, I feel compelled to take action that will help keep children safe. It is a sad world we live in where children no longer are able to attend school without fear. What is even more alarming is the thought that the solution to this moral crisis is more guns! The thought that teachers should be armed as well is a sad testament to the NRA's flawed ideology. I hope that Connecticut can serve as a model for the rest of the country and that the unthinkable tragedy at Sandy Hook will serve as a catalyst for change for the rest of America.

Sincerely,

Amy Verrone-Buccilli

Sent from my iPhone