

Dear Panel, What are we going to do when the next madman walks in with 4 revolvers,6 bullets in each and kills 24? Are we going to high five each other because he did not use an "assault" rifle and a high capacity magazine? Are we going to start calling revolvers "assault" weapons and ban them too?

Where does this witch hunt end? Feel good laws will not make guns and magazines magically disappear into thin air. Sidestepping the U.S. Constitution and grabbing guns from the law abiding will not make our children safer. An armed guard in front of every school will at least give our kids a fighting chance. Calling 911 does not work. The police are not first responders. They are second responders and show up to recover bodies. If we can waste billions of dollars on foreign aid to countries who give us nothing in return I think we could afford to place someone at the front door of every school which WILL make our children safer. It's easy to take guns from the law abiding but it is not us you have to worry about; it's the criminals and the mentally unstable who don't care about your gun bans and background checks. Sincerely, David Sosbe
