

Gentlemen;

Don't change Connecticut's firearms laws.

Prior to the foolishness that that just happened in NY, Connecticut had some of the toughest gun laws in the nation.

Those laws and NY's laws won't stop crazy people from doing bad things.

Schools are attacked because the attacker knows there is no defense.

A deranged person with a ball bat and a machete could raise just as much havoc with defenseless grammar school kids.

Or heaven forbid the lunatic follows Joe Biden's and gets a shot gun.

Most of the proposals I've seen if enacted would make me a felon.

They leave me with three choices;

- 1) Become a felon and get marched off to jail
- 2) Get rid of the stuff that offends or
- 3) Move to a firearms friendly state.

I will not do 2

One is unattractive.

Moving to a firearms friendly state seems like a preferable option.

I'm 72 years old and have been a CT resident since day one.

A good portion of my time is spent in a firearms friendly state which also has no income tax.

I did the math the last time you raised taxes and a prudent person in my circumstances would have moved but I felt the price was worth the extra time I spend with kids and grand kids.

Further encroaching on my fire arms rights will force me out of CT.

I encourage you to read article 15 of our state's constitution.

It seems much broader than the US constitution's 2nd ammendent.
