

To whom it may concern.

I have owned firearms since I have served in the military. I have been a responsible gun owner for many years. I also raised my daughter with these firearms safely secured. Now it is my soon to be 4 year old grandson. I feel that it is "my" responsibility to keep my firearms secured, this did not happen with the Newtown tragedy. In addition, the mother refused to recognize the severity of her son's illness.

I oppose any further restrictions on law abiding citizens who own firearms in Connecticut. Please enforce existing laws before adding new ones. I know there is tremendous pressure to react to this horrid situation, but the bottom line is an irresponsible gun owner let her mentally ill son gain access and also train him to use such weapons.

Thank You for your time,
