

Why the rush?

To give the appearance that you can actually do something other than punish the innocent?

I would certainly welcome an action that could prevent these situations from occurring IN REALITY. The one realistic and proven solution is the one that meets with constant roadblocks from you people.

Like it or not the Israelis are at the pointy end of the spear daily. Their solution is to arm the school staff, end of topic, end of problem. How many children would they have lost to date with your farcical "gun free zone"?

Every bill that has been proposed is concerned with punishing the general law abiding population and increasing your revenue. You tipped your hand right after this needless tragedy. Did I hear that we need to find the cause of this action? No, I was told the evil guns are to blame almost instantly. This showed you taking tragedy and using it for your own agenda while emotions are heightened. The lack of shame among you is stunning.

My recommendation would be to make murder illegal, that would cover everything with one simple law. Don't mistake support for labor issues with your attacks on my civil rights, this is a deal breaker.
