

This email is to address the new gun laws for Conn.. Guns are here because it is the second amendment; we the people have the right to protect our families. If all the guns a person owns are legal he or she should be able to have them. Changing the gun laws in Conn. will not make it safe. It will only give the criminals more freedom. The difference between the North and South is like night and day are we going for a new civil war in this country. We are supposed to be free people with the right to bare arms. I don't feel like that anymore. I think this country is in big trouble and thank God our younger people are paying attention to why their grandfathers and great grandfathers and fathers fought and still fight today for this country and will not except their rights to be taken away. The Sandy Hook tragedy happened because a mother who had a child with problems didn't address the issues he had. If she knew this about her child, she should have had a safe to prohibit him from accessing the guns. He tried to buy a gun and was told no. The law worked, but the blame is on the guns not the mother who was a gun owner and knew what her son was like. I say shame on her. Why was none of this televised about where the guns were and how did he get them? The thing that really upset me was she took him shooting knowing his issues. If you change the laws many people will move out of Conn. (Like we can afford that) and go south where the laws won't stop their right to bare arms. Shame on Conn. when you call any hot line and say you need help or doctor for some sort of mental illness and are told 1 month before someone can see you or you never get a call back. These are the issues this state should be looking at, not changing gun laws. It will not solve a single thing.
