

Last night I attended a screening of "Living For 32". I urge you to find an opportunity to watch this powerful documentary portraying Colin Goddard, a survivor of the Virginia Tech massacre, and his work advocating for gun control.

If we did just one thing today that would help prevent future tragedies like _____ (insert any one you wish...there are far too many to choose from), it would be legislation requiring strict and thorough background checks on everyone and anyone wanting to purchase a firearm. My name is Meg Capodanno. I am a mother, a sister, a daughter, a wife, a friend, an aunt, a teacher. And I WILL March For Change.
